Bianca Odgen, Fund Manager, Platinum Asset Management

Bianca joined Platinum in July 2003 having previously worked as a scientist for Johnson & Johnson Research as well as for Novartis in Switzerland. At Johnson & Johnson her major focus was target identification and validation in the area of oncology. During her post-graduate and undergraduate studies Bianca concentrated on molecular aspects of viral diseases, such as AIDS. Bianca manages the Platinum International Health Care Fund since its inception in 2004. Bianca received a PhD in Virology from the University College London and a Master's Degree from the Eberhard Karls University, Tuebingen, Germany.
